ALL ABOUT AFFIXES SKETCH NOTES

WHY TEACH PREFIXES AND SUFFIXES?

Almost 70 percent of the English language is derived from Latin and Greek roots and affixes. When we teach students these “building blocks,” they can recognize and decode unfamiliar words related to a known prefix or suffix. It is also increasingly important to explicitly teach students the meanings of these word parts as they encounter the very technical vocabulary found in science and other content areas.

WHY SKETCH NOTES?

Sketch notes present your students with a meaningful and engaging activity that they will love. Doodle notetaking activates verbal and visual modalities to capture concepts. The whole brain is absorbed in hearing, synthesizing, and retaining ideas. This high level of engagement helps with the retention of the content and leaves little room for distraction.

WHAT IS INCLUDED?

This resource includes a completely unique sketch page for 64 different prefixes and suffixes.

TAKE IT TO THE NEXT LEVEL!

These affixes are organized in 25 units (2-4 affixes per unit); these units correspond to the units in All About Affixes Practice Printables. You do not need to have the Practice Printables to use these sketch notes, but if you are looking for more structured word work for your students, you can learn more about it HERE.

ALL ABOUT AFFIXES SKETCH NOTES

Student word lists: Each page comes with a list of related words. Students can choose three words from the list to use on their doodle notes page.

The sections labeled "meaning" can be used in two ways: students can either write the definition here or use the word in context. Using the word in context is typically more effective for understanding meaning as opposed to simply writing a definition.

Students have room for their own doodle for each of the three words.

The bottom portion of each page includes a multidisciplinary "fun fact" that relates to the root. These fun facts make cross-curricular connections to trivia, math, science, history, or art. Each one of these factoids is written specifically for the focus affix of each page. They are not only high-interest (great for student engagement), but they also help students understand and retain the meaning of each affix.

Students will write related words around the border of the page.
